On May 6, 2020, the U.S. Department of Education issued final regulations concerning claims of sexual harassment or assault under Title IX. Schools Legal Service will present an informative training regarding what these new regulations mean for your school district. Your district will be required to adopt a grievance process that includes the appointment of positions in addition to the Title IX Coordinator. The training will cover the new definition of sexual harassment, required elements of the grievance process, the role of the various required positions, and how Title IX requires districts to treat all parties involved in a claim. A second training will follow specific to the role of each required position (Title IX now requires specific training for each role in the grievance process).
