Have you ever wondered what you can and cannot ask a potential employee during the hiring process? What about conducting and responding to reference checks? What should you ask and what are you allowed to tell a potential employer? We will cover these topics during the lunch and learn, then reserve the remainder of our time together to discuss labor and employment related questions and scenarios. We kindly request that attendees submit their questions by Monday, July 22, 2024 so we can best prepare for a robust discussion. All examples will be appropriately modified to maintain employee confidentiality. Advanced registration is required.
